CLIVIA MINIATA

CLIVIA MINIATA

Clivias are rare and very beautiful flowering plants for greenhouse and house culture. Their amber colored flower clusters appear in mid-winter and their glossy, evergreen foliage makes them decorative the year around.

They come to us directly from Belgium where they are pot-grown and replanting is a simple matter of placing them in a slightly larger pot than they originally occupied.

Each $4.00; Doz. $40.00

CALANTHE

We are pleased to offer for the first time this fine collection of Terrestrial Orchids. An excellent garden subject, these Orchids will thrive in any good soil. The flower appears before the foliage and after the flowering period is through, the foliage should be allowed to grow until frost time. The plants must then be dug and allowed to rest until the following spring.

GRACILIS. The largest of the Calanthe species. Brilliant yellow flowers on a spike as tall as 1 foot.

Doz. $7.20; 100 $50.00

NIPPONICA. Early flowering clear yellow. Stems 8" to 10" long.

STRAITA. The most common of the Terrestrial Orchids. Fresh yellow spike on a 6" stem.

ARUM CORNUTUM

(Monarch of the East)

Plant this rare bulb outside when the danger of frost is over. Your reward will be a summer plant with exotic palm-like foliage. When this foliage turns yellow or is blackened by frost, harvest the bulb and allow it to cure in a warm temperature until the new bud appears (approximately 4 to 6 weeks). The bulb can then be potted or left without soil (see illustration) during the flowering period. When the flowering is completed, cut off the blossom and store in a cool location until outdoor planting time.

AMARYLLIS

American Hybrids

Amaryllis are one of our specialties and we grow a large stock here on our own farms. These northern grown bulbs are firmer and heavier than the southern stocks and hold up much better when exposed for counter sales.

For house culture the ease with which they can be flowered makes them the outstanding subject for this purpose and they also make a beautiful pot plant for florist use. The colors are mixed and range from pure white through the various pink shades to deep red.

HAEMANTHUS MULTIFLORUS

HAEMANTHUS MULTIFLORUS

Acclaimed by many experts as the most beautiful bulbous item, Haemanthus, the Blood Lily is easily grown either in the garden or as a house plant. The blossom, (see illustration) blood red in color, forms a perfect sphere six inches or more in diameter on a stem eight or more inches tall. The flower appears without foliage from six to eight weeks after planting either indoors in late winter or outdoors after spring frost danger is over. The blossom itself can be treated as a cut flower or allowed to remain on the bulb; in either event it will keep its beautiful shape and color for more than eight days. As the flower matures, the foliage appears out of the soil along side the flower stem and grows rapidly into a beautiful glossy leaved plant. The plant grows to a height of from 18" to 24" and keeps its beauty until frost. Haemanthus grown indoors should be planted outdoors during the summer months. The bulbs can be lifted in the fall and rested in a cool, dry place until replanting time. We urge all of our customers to try this showiest of all garden subjects.
